In a LENNON KITCHEN everything you use is exactly where you need it, exactly when you need it. Miles of walking is shortened to a minimum of steps. Your work top is the hub Banked about it within easy reach are your cabinets of gleaming white. A place for everything, everything in its place.

Utility is not the only feature of a LENNON KITCHEN. Beauty is there. Beauty that will make every other room envious. Envious of the cheerful gatherings there each evening and of the admiring compliments to host and hostess.

Your new kitchen awaits you at Lennon's. Have it livable — have it lovely — have it Lennon planned, Lennon built.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

TF I HAD been sure that Fa the deliberately had put the choice to me of repeating the objectionable words she had heard from her brother and cousin, or of copying in some other fashion with her real or pretended ignorance of them, I am afraid I should have refreshed her memory with a trap to the bedroom and an ensuing application of the back of a hairbranch brush.

But when one is uncertain of a child's good or bad faith, it is criminal—at least to my way of thinking—not to give her the benefit of the doubt.

So I put my hands on my small.

Peptic Ulcer

Ulcer of the stomach and first part of the bowel known as pepticuleer may often be healed by the use of alkaline preparations to-gether with a milk and cream diet and rest in bed However, some patients may get well merely with test and the use of soft easily-di-gested foods, such as cereals. But in some cases, olders are very resistant to healing and a search must be made for other methods of treatment.

According to Doctor Asher Winkelstein and his issociates of New York City patients with peptie lork City patients with peptie at ulcer may be treated by what is known as intragastric drip. He thinks that this type of treatment may be useful even in those patients with place who would be useful. tients with ulcer who would seem to require operation for relief The treatment is carried out by 35% more meat wanted! This means thousands of new jobs!

iebs in packing plants!—As demand for meat zooms!

Making Postwar Jobs-Out of Meat!

HOW many jobs will there be as this country returns to peacetime production? Will there be enough jobs for veterans, for former war workers?

No one can say, exactly. But this much se know: Many industries along our routes offer amazing possibilities for jobs in the immediate future—thousands of new jobs that have never existed before! These jobs are going to grow out of the gigantic demand for goods and services *not exists in this country-and from production that will satisfy that demand.

Consider the meat packing industry. Meat suffered the greatest shortage and 135 missed more than any other food aring the war. Moreover, meat has beme a greater item in our diets-both military and civilian. And new knowledge of the health giving qualities of meat has made meat more in demand than ever.

Right now, leaders in the meat-packing industry are readying production facilities to take care of a tremendous increase in domestic consumption. They confidently expect a rise in demand of as much as 35%! This will make meat a 4-billion-dollar enterprise, ranking with steel and automobiles in the number of people employed.

It will mean myriads of new jobs on the country's 3,000,000 ranches and farms growing meat, in the 4,000 packing plants, and on the sales staffs serving these plants. It will mean more jobs in the country's 400,000 retail outlets selling most-and it will mean new jobe in the factories and the service trades that supply or serve people connected with raising, packing and distributing meat! Mest-packing is only one of many industries along the Chesapeake and Ohio. the Nickel Plate, and the Pere Marquette, that are going ahead with all possible speed, now that Victory has been won.

Expecting Too Much

THE danger implicit in President Truman's proposal for a law to deal with labor disputes as a federal responsibility is the tendency of the public to expect too much

When congress passed the so-called Smith-Connally bilt, in a previous attempt to give labor unions greater responsibility for work stoppages, the public expected too much. Its reaction to disappointment was cynicism. Whatever congress decides to do now in the way of repealing the Smith-Connally act and creating new federal authority for fact-finding commissions, cooling-off periods and compulsory arbitration, the fact is that labor union leadership will retain the power to make or break the success of the regulations. A further fact, still not realized as widely as it should be, is that part of the present leadership of labor unions is in no manner interested in minimizing work stoppages for the sake of making private enterprise successful. The General Motors strike now in progress and the threatened steel strike are not in the hands of men interested in reaching an amicable agreement by means of bona fide collective bargaining. They are in the hands of men who have assumed the right to dictate terms to management and to the public: what they continue to call collective bargaining has become a take-H-or-else edict.

The nature of these men will not be changed by new legislation. The plans they hold for dictating wage contracts are not going to be shelved to make another federal law look good. Their wage dictation credo of "ability to pay" is vastly more important to them then preservation of management's right to manage Its capital affairs. What President Truman means and the public thinks he means by proposals to reduce work stoppages is so far from the thing the labor leaders involved are driving at that they are not even speaking the same language. The labor leaders are talking about dividing wealth to meet union demands. Mr. Truman is talking about getting men back to work. That does not mean Mr. Truman's proposal has no merit, but it does mean the public should not expect too much. If labor leaders were interested in getting men back to work and keeping them at work, there would be no estrikes or threats of strikes:

Everything Under Control

THE varied wealth of the United States is beyond comprehension. To be reminded of it, as we occasionally are these days, is to be amazed.

The occasions are likeliest to be the release of a new list of Items taken off OPA's price control list. On Dec-7, the releases included: Cobblers benches, steering wheel covers, cheese handcuffs, policemen's billies, cutlery boxes, hand bells, grandfather clocks, household barbecues, corn poppers, garden carts, ice cube tongs, coffee grinders, umbrella stands, checker boards, eye brushes, carpet and rug beaters, sawbucks, carbide lamps, lawn mower sharpeners and United States postoffice mail boxes. The customer also was protected against price boosting on bread boards, barometers, bottle cappers, snowshoes, parallel bars, life pruservers, fish nets and tooth picks, if it matters.

Everything, it seems, was under control, whether we realized it or not. There were men in Washington, D. C., who watched the ups and downs of ice cube longs with the same avid interest that the public was showing in the battle of the bulge. It was a marvelous war, as we look back on it now.

Straw in the Big Wind

BY a deft twist of political misrepresentation Professor Hurold J. Laski, chairman of the British Labor party, has been shifted to the American arens. This sleight-of-hand was performed nimbly by Herbert Brownell Jr., chairman of the Republican national committee, in a speech outlining the issues of the 1946 and 1948 campaigns.

Professor Laski, Mr. Brownell asserted, has drawn the fundamental issue in American politick by his outspoken attack on free enterprise. "It is true," admitted Mr. Brownell, "that not all Democrats agree with Mr. Laski, but all agree that to remain in power the Truman administration has to obtain votes of and compromise with the left-wing groups, in this country." The point is, of course, that Professor Laski is supposed to be regarded highly inside the Democratic administration and therefore is a proper issue in the forthcoming campaigns. ... While the Democrats got away with this skulduggery in 1944 by making it appear that anyone who was against Franklin D. Roosevelt was, therefore, in favor of Hitler, Mussolini, Tojo et al, it was to be hoped that the end of the war would put a stop to such nonsense. Before a single American vote in 1946 or 1948 is east for or against Harold J. Laski, voters should find out whether he's running.

While people worry over the awful potentialities of atomic bombs and future wars, such things as epidemics of colds and the flu bob up to remind us that all the commonplace human dangers and affiletions of long standing are

News Behind the News By PAUL MALLON

The Defense for the Loan to Britain.

WASHINGTON, Der 12-The peace, not yet restored, defense of the Periods form defense of the British Joan ; deal is that there are only three things which can be done with the British

(A) Prop them up (B) Let them fall.

(C) Let the Russians take them. On this basis the project is be-ing sold to the reluctant and disco traged congress—and will in-creasingly be sold. This is the argument which is planned to win congressional approval, and it probably will At this writing, a delayed acceptance of the plan, without material amendment, have difficulty getting anyone to

In its details, the arrangement is indefensible. A careful reading of the agreements will show that upon practically every agreed point, the British have conteived an escape clause or phase—in short, an out.

Interest Payments

In the matter of interest payments, for example, these will be waived unless British trade averages more than 1935-38 for five preceding years. Again, the British are to try to do something about the sterling discrimination pool against the dollar, but will only "Make every endeavor" to do so. They agree to "relax" not

Again, they agree to discuss a new deluxe super Bretton Woods arrangement to create a world trading and monetary system; they agree to work with us for this "international trade organization" at a world conference next year, but there nothing definite is pro-vided beyond the "discussion" Again they promise to pay perhaps $750,000,000 in settlement of "lend-lease" (How ironical those two words sound now) but only $50,000,000 is to be cash within five years, and we will not take this money, but will use it to build educational or other institutions in the British empire.

There is hardly a line in the agreement which is not hedged thus with a legal escape for nonfulfillment.

More After Lend Lease

For this, we are to throw $3.-750,000,000 more after the $25,-000,000,000 of "lend-lease" we are cancelling off—thus giving them title to remaining planes, guns, trucks, typewriters and what not, without trying to get the materials back for scrap or use. (Army As I say, I think congress may claims we already have more than take it, but not enthusiastically. we can sell or use in surplus property, but they are thinking of

The best object e world fi-nance authorities tell me the Brit-sh carefully carved their excuses in advance, because they cannot expect to repay this "loan" any more than they could pay our war advances, given away under the disguised booby - trap phrase "lend-lease." They have no raw materials on their island except coal. They cannot produce without raw materrals, and they cannot pay for the materials except by produc-

say their amortization plan for this "loan" is sound. They can win a respite against fate with our money, but their 55 year future does not justify the deal financially.

What Elec To Do

But what could we do?, the Byrnes people are already asking the senators in private. The senators are saying we could have taken title to the equipment we have given them and used it for atorage against the future or scrap; we could have taken payment in materials of which our own stockpiles are low, we could have acquired territories needed for raw materials, and for civilian and military world air bases.
In short, we could have reached a fair and good business settle-ment "in kind," and closed the books on this endless dumping of the product of our toil into Britain these last 30 years. We could have reached a final settlement.

As it is, we have left the books open, to furnish more money when this "loan" is gone and cannot be repaid - money which really represents the sweat of our workmen, because our treasury has no "money" except as it drains that source.

We could have wisely prepared ourselves with territory, stockpiles and power for the new barter world of trade (which is coming as surely as borrowed interna-tional money is never repaid). We could have won the peace with ilus deal.

The Byrnes people come back and say:

We have thrown $250,000,000,ing anything but world's head-aches. What is $3,750,000,000 aches. more? The deal is done now. Take it or leave it.

By J. FRANK TRAGLE

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON-A POSTWAY problem with a reverse twist is the mass unbuilding of Amer-he has any fleet.

Assembly-line technique may be the answer to this newer, different problem of producing by tearing apart.

Most surplus military planes are good for little more than the junkpile. In the first place it is too expensive to convert them to civilian needs and too costly to operate them after they are con-verted. Just because a bomber may resemble a commercial transport does not mean that it is economical to put it to work on a peacetime job.

Secondly, inilitary men consider that it is as unwise to store away present-day planes for future military use as it would be to put aside a 1946 automobile for possible competition in the 1970 indianapolis craces.

Says W. Stuart Symington, Surreport describing the aircraft

posal program: The United States taxpayers cannot expect to recover any sub-stantial portion of the 43 billion dollars invested in war aircraft."

Five Calegories The Surplus Property Administration places aviation surplus n five categories:

A. Tactical aircraft — fighters, bombers and heavy trainers.
B. Transports — those suitable for airplines and other civilian transport needs.

C. Personal aircraft - primary trainers, light planes and others considered suitable for private D. Components and parts-en mies, propellers, instruments, accessories and spare parts.

E. Unabsorbed surplus—planes. components and parts which can be sold only as scrap, or which the postwar size of the American armed forces has not yet been determined. tion I imited

But regardless of the aize of America's peacetime Army and Navy, the use of present military planes probably will be limited. Says Symington's report:

The fear of airpower strategists is that taxpayers, seeing thousands of surplus warplanes parked on airfields all over the country, will ask, "why not use these planes before we buy more?"

"They (air strategists) believe the key to enforcing the peace and insuring against future attacks hes. In a relatively small air fleet of superior first-line combat and transport planes, one-fourth of which are replaced annually. As for taking the planes apart and using them in non-aviation industries, manufacturers of everything from ash trays to farm machinery have told the Surplus Property Administration that they could turn out better products by building or buying new parts than by buying parts from surplus planes.

A few uses have been found for some aircraft motors (as emer-gency power units) and parts (in machine shops), but the repor

That basic metal content consists of aluminum (70 per cent of a military plane), steel, leads, copper and magiesium. But the will have to await the manpower which will make economical as-sembly-line methods possible

Author of the Week By Joe Wing

Associated Press Book Reviewer

THE author of I whole series of first rate natural history books since 1939 adds another to his list with "The Lost Wood." Not the least remarkable part of it is the photographs by the author, Edwin Way Teale, proprietor of a unique Long Island farm where bugs and plants go their ways unmolested by man, has been studying nature and writing about it since boyhood. This book tells the story of memorable days in the life of a naturalist.
Another book by Mr. Teale calls

ns a rule for the comment that it contains some of the best nature writing and some of the best na-ture photographs being put out. There seems to be no particu-Mann Jr., sophomores, Mary Alice Hall and Walter Allegood, juntors and Paul Messenger and Robert Verburg, seniors.

Dr. D. W. Brickley and Dr. H. K. Five past leaders and the incumbent, Mrs. E. E. Lynch, were presented with silver crosses and chains, emblems of the order, at a meeting of the Silver Cross circle, King's Daughters, at the horne of Mrs. E. E. Parish of East it too and that is the reason many of a woods he entered as a farm boy and that he never has been able to locate since. That was a memorable day in his life as a naturalist, and he sets out to put down the stories of other memorable days. From this theme he often strays afield.

Through Teale's eyes, everyday events and things are metamorphosed into events and things of greater moment and significance han through the eyes of others. He sees the springtime trek of beach for laying eggs as the annual return of living fossis from the deep. He sees a sunset in the terms of falling night in a hundred cities and farmsteads and woodlands across the country,
